

Submission Guidelines

Poets' Wall accepts submissions from both new and established poets who are living with Parkinson's Disease. Please note that we are unable to pay our contributors. Poems should be submitted one at a time and no more than five poems should be submitted in any one month period. Please send your poem in the body of an e-mail as plain text or attached as a Word document to team@poetswithparkinsons.com.

Submissions will be checked to ensure compliance with our Terms of Use. If poetry contains words or messages that conflict with our values, we will not publish. It is your responsibility to ensure that your submission is acceptable, is your own original work and is not plagiarised. Our editors' decisions are final.

Submissions must be original, previously unpublished poetry or published poetry where you have retained or regained the copyright. By submitting to Poets' Wall you are granting us the non-exclusive right to publish accepted work electronically and archive it perpetually, as long as the site remains online. Writers retain their copyright in all cases.
